

Family Traditions to Make Your Life Sweeter

Every generation of our family feels most at home in the kitchen, and more specifically the chocolate kitchen. Our family has been making premium chocolates since 1914.

It all started when our great-grandparents came to the US - they brought what they could carry in their suitcase, the clothes on their back, and their chocolate recipes. They saved enough money to open a small chocolate shop and ice cream soda fountain in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Since then, our family has been dedicated to serving our communities with the pride that has been instilled in us by each generation that came before us. We look forward to continuing our traditions in communities from coast to coast.
